Hi Redbacks & welcome back to the web!

We're ecstatic to be back home playing at the Oasis! This month is shaping up to be a monstrous fixture with 7 games squeezed into 4 weeks, with tonight being our second game of the weekend & what is the first of consecutive double-header weekends. Tough by any means!

The team continues to navigate the early up's & down's of the season through player availability, both injury & absences, but things appear to finally be settling as we approach the month with plenty of continuity, a positive mind frame & a lot of excitement about what this group is striving to achieve in 2025.

After a host of absences last home game, we were really pleased to see the return of multiple players. Anneli Maley, Natalie Chou & Georgia Denehey were huge inclusions last week, while Shenae Hartree' return from an ACL injury inches imminently closer every week.

TIM TIME

Tonight, we are hopefully returning home after a positive result & performance at Lakeside Friday night, to take on the Warwick Senators for the second time in recent weeks. Our last battle was tight the whole way & we are certain we learned from that encounter, particularly in the 4th quarter, about how to adapt & close. Warwick have since introduced young star Kiara Waite, while Stacey Barr continues her MVP-calibre season by putting the team on her back in a number of close contests. We will have to be at our best to protect home court & keep a number of their stars under wraps.

Lastly congratulations to Natalie Chou who was recognised as a part of the NBL1 national starting five of the month (for April). A great achievement!

Be loud Redbacks - this will no doubt be an exciting matchup & you will likely be the difference!

Timmy

Hello Redbacks

I can't tell you how happy we are to be back at home after what we felt was a disappointing result against Cockburn last time out. We did make some positive steps against the Flames last week on the road, with the guys making some big adjustments and buying in to the game plan we wanted to execute. We didn't get the win but we feel we are on the verge of some sustained success.

The key for us will be some continuity, we have not had a game this season with our full roster available. Emmanuel Kanwei and Mathiang Muo have now been with us a few weeks, and you can see them starting to understand their roles and build chemistry with the group. Joe Cook-Green is getting close to his return as well Connor Mincherton inching closer each week. Once we all get back on the floor and string some games together I can see our record starting to improve as we push to try and stay in touch with the top 8.

It's a long season, and the feel around the group is really positive. The guys have kept their nose to the grindstone and continued to work. Stick with us because we feel like the end of the year is going to be exciting.

This week we welcome Coach Cooper and the undefeated Warwick Senators. If you follow the league you know of the record breaking season Elijah Pepper is having, he's an exciting talent. On top of that they have another Wildcat in Todd Withers who's an elite 2 way wing that plays multiple positions. The addition of Mitch Clark has given them another gear, George Pearl and Tyler Shand could be the 2 most underrated players in the league. So we have our hands full, but if you want to be the best you have to beat the best so that's exactly what we'll compete to do.

The guys are working, each week we learn a new lesson and as mentioned are confident that things are on the up for our group.

Cheers

Nixy
