Hello Albany!

What a really exciting opportunity to bring NBL1 basketball to the Great Southern region of our brilliant state! Albany for the longest has been a basketball hub for country hoops in WA for many, many years & has produced some terrific players in this time. It's fantastic to see the desire for high quality basketball in the region has not changed, especially considering the Albany Raiders have not hit the hardwood for 26 years! I know myself, staff & especially the players are really excited to take the court for our game tonight, put on a show & engage with the community over the course of the weekend.

It's been especially incredible to see the support behind tonight's game with a huge contingent of sponsors getting behind the event. It's remarkable to see & sends a clear message that Albany is ready & wanting more high level basketball.

Tonight also doubles as our first nations round match with our indigenous uniform on show for the first time. With a distinct Albany flavour & design, the team is really proud to don these uniforms as it brings attention to our first nations people, their contributions, culture, history & continued steps towards reconciliation. A topic we all have a role to play in.

TIM TIME

The match up against Perry Lakes tonight is certain to be a top level encounter. Both teams have high level talent & similar ambitions for the end of the season. Our first encounter earlier in the season was extremely close, which saw us come out on top. We definitely expect another close encounter this time around as well.

For some players to watch in this one - our All-NBL1 first team star duo of Anneli Maley & Natalie Chou will absolutely set the tone. They are world class level athletes & will be an exciting watch. Alaska Rhebok & Shenae Hartree are two of the brightest young talents in the league that play with flair & determination, whilst our back court we consider to be one of the best defensive back courts in the competition - spearheaded by Georgia Denehey, Sophie Doran & captain Raya Thompson. Unfortunately our German star, Patty Brossmann will be sidelined as she works back from an injury.

For Hawks you cannot go past the WNBL pairing of Alex Fowler & Jayda Clark. They are absolute studs with bright futures at the highest levels. They have added another WNBL campaigner in Meg McKay, who is arguably the most credentialed player in NBL1 history. While they then have Amy Jacobs, Grace Stone & Mia Satie who have all had experience at the next level.

There is truly some of the best talent not only in WA being put on show tonight, but arguably the country. So we hope you enjoy the spectacle & are loud & proud to be Redbacks fans for the weekend!

We thank you gain for the support! We'll see you all tomorrow for the skills camp!

Timmy

NIXY'S NEWS

WITH MNBL1 HEAD COACH

CHARLES NIX

Hello Albany - we are very excited to be here.

It's definitely a unique situation playing a home game in a regional hub, but the support I have felt being around town the last few days has been huge and we can't wait to get on court and put on a show for you all. I definitely don't take the privilege of being able to impact a community for granted, and am so thankful for the Albany basketball community for welcoming us and participating in our activations over the last few days.

We are fortunate enough to have Keanu Weeden with us in our coaching group, doing a fantastic job leading our D League Men. The time and energy he has put into our program over the last 3 years has been significant and this year his leadership and development skills have been on show. Thank you to Keanu for putting this event together.

NIXY'S NEWS

Tonight we welcome the Perry Lakes Hawks with local lad, Matt Leary, who has been on a tear over the last month. Matt is a winner and someone I've respected over his NBL1 career, I'm sure being home is a big boost for him so we've put a lot of time into making life as hard as possible for him tonight. The Hawks are in a similar position to us scrapping to get into the 8, so this game is vital for both teams. I expect that it will be a real barn burner and come down to the final seconds.

A big thank you to all of the local volunteers that have made tonight possible. Our group values this experience and can tell you how much we appreciate it, we plan to show you on the floor tonight.

Cheers

Charles Nix

ARTIST'S STORY

Kaya, my name is Brianna Williams. I'm a proud Mineng, Goreng woman.

I started painting when I was younger, just as something to do—but over time, it became a way for me to connect deeply with my culture and share stories. Every one of my artworks carries meaning and reflects a part of my Country.

My painting skills come from my mum, Donna Williams, and my Pop, Oliver “Puddles” Williams .RIP. I'm proud to carry on their legacy through my art.

This piece represents what Albany means to me.

The whale at the front symbolises the whales that visit our shores each year. The circle of dots in the middle represents the local fish traps—an important Menang heritage site out at Oyster Harbour. The yellow dots with lines show all the people who are connected to this place.

The red, green, and yellow community symbols represent the Redbacks coming to Albany to play on our Country.

Through this painting, I want to honour my connection to Albany and celebrate the stories that make it home.
